

JULY 2016

marylebone times

*MIDDLE EASTERN SPIRIT: statement jewellery and kaftans
PLUS: Maurice Saatchi, Judy Murray and Marylebone special*

EWS

AVAR MEN'S B

lin-starred restaurant has announced a series of as part of its Women's Club under Samyukta initiative to gather inspirational to celebrate talent and share (and advice). inaugural evening e place on July h Edith Bowman sing her career in l radio; followed r Kathryn t on August 6. his year, double- in-starred Hélène e will be in conversation; with Olympic gold medallists ickardson-Walsh and Helen Richardson-Walsh on mber 17. A bespoke menu courtesy of Surrender t will include canapes of Tulsii chicken tikka served with t Perrier champagne; lobster idlii sambhar or Bharwan , paneer-stuffed sweet peppers and chopped purple ; followed by mains of Achaari Baingan – pickle spiced gine, potato or Nurgh Nihari. Tickets are £45. nt Street

Kathryn Sargent
Photo: REX

TUSHAR SABALE EXHIBITION

Last month, oil painter Tushar Sabale exhibited a series of artworks at the cultural wing of The High Commission of India, the Nehru Centre, featuring still life paintings and portraits of family members and local figures, including Mayfair Times editor Selma Day.

Chiaroscuro marked Sabale's second solo exhibition at the Nehru Centre, and saw the artist look to classical art as inspiration, displaying a series of paintings focusing on the interplay between light and dark. Alongside Selma's portrait were those of Princess Olga Romanoff, Lady Colin Campbell and the artist's daughters.

8 South Audley Street

Tushar Sabale, Selma Day and Thierry Macquet

Last year's awards and, right, ballroom, Sheraton Grand London Park Lane

CHAMPION OF WOMEN AWARDS

Voting is now open for the annual Champion of Women Awards 2018, which is set to take place at The Sheraton Grand London Park Lane on October 5.

The awards aim to raise in excess of 2017's fundraising achievement of £75,000 for cancer charity Maggie's Centres; and in the process, recognise women who have demonstrated extraordinary talent and provided support and encouragement to peers and the next generation, across the worlds of television, film, fashion, charity, design, technology and media.

This year's award categories include Champion of Style and Spirit; Innovation; Compassion; Sport; Culture; Young Champion of the Year; Business; and Champion of Champions. Those deserving can be self-nominated or nominated by a peer.